The Covid-19 restrictions had a negative impact on our traffic data for the month of April and for the entire period.

While the effect and impact that the travel restrictions will have on traffic levels going forward is not wholly determinable, we expect that the current travel restrictions will continue to negatively affect the Company's traffic data for subsequent reporting periods (including the six-month period ending on 30 June 2020) to the extent such restrictions remain in place.

Please note that such traffic information may not be indicative of the full year trend and that the Company has no duty nor any obligation to update the information nor to continue providing monthly reporting.
